

CLASS OF 2023 PROFILE

MISSION STATEMENT: The Hun School of Princeton empowers each student to thrive in a diverse and ever-changing world, by nurturing resilient character, providing individual mentorship, and inspiring vigorous and joyful learning.

EQUITY AND INCLUSION: With students from 16 countries and 16 states, diversity is a way of life at Hun. But our curriculum goes deeper, offering seminars on community and leadership, and courses on Race, Media, Justice, Equity, and on Gender in Literature. Students can take part in an on-campus Martin Luther King Jr. Leadership Summit or travel around the world in our Global Immersion Program. All students participate in intentional programming that helps students gain a better understanding of themselves and the world around them.

NEXTTERM: NextTerm is a three-week, experiential mini-mester in which students in grades 9, 10, and 11 participate in an immersion learning experience (both domestic and international), designed to offer a deep exploration of interdisciplinary topics. Students choose one class from a broad menu of courses that explore new concepts in a tangible and dynamic way. Courses are team-taught, informed by a variety of environments and real-world practitioners, and utilize resources both on and off campus. NextTerm courses are graded, half-credit classes that count toward a student's grade point average. They do not replace required classes during the traditional school trimester. They appear as NT- on the transcript, and are included on the grade distribution sheet.

SKILLS-BASED AND INTERDISCIPLINARY LEARNING: At Hun, teachers focus more intently on skill development and student engagement than on simply conferring information. Whether a Hun School student is taking Arabic or Bioethics, they will examine the principles of that course while developing Creativity, Cultural Competency, Collaborative Problem Solving, Critical Thinking, Ethical Decision Making, Effective Communication, and Leadership Skills. Similarly, we understand that the real world does not fall neatly into academic disciplines, therefore all Hun students will take interdisciplinary courses designed to draw on their education from multiple academic areas.

COVID-19 IMPACT: The 2021-22 academic year proceeded with a return to pre-Covid standards with in-person instruction five days a week for all students.

STUDENT LEADERSHIP

The HUN SCHOOL STUDENT GOVERNMENT is guided by a student-drafted Constitution and more than 50 student leaders. The students meet weekly to write bills that affect student life.

PROCTORS are student leaders within the boarding community. Proctors apply for leadership positions and then work throughout the year to hone their skills and serve as peer leaders and mentors for the resident students.

HEADS OF HOUSE: Student life at Hun is organized by Raider House, allowing students to celebrate a healthy competitive spirit and a sense of family within the greater community. Each of the four houses elects two Heads of House.

THE HONOR COUNCIL, STUDENT HONOR BOARD, DISCIPLINE COMMITTEE, and STUDENT DISCIPLINE BOARD evaluate violations of the Honor or Discipline Codes and make recommendations to the administration. They meet with the student(s) involved to discuss the violation and advise the student(s) on the ethical course of action.

PEER LEADERS are selected to serve as mentors for 9th grade advisory groups. They model our shared community standard and serve as mediators for minor student infractions.

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY distinguishes those students who have demonstrated outstanding scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Inductees must demonstrate exceptional leadership both in and out of school.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS:

The Upper School Program of Studies provides students with an innovative and individual approach to meeting graduation requirements.
